Police officer jailed for selling stories to Sun newspaper

REPORTER

JON SHARMAN

jon.sharman@london.newsquest.co.uk

A former police officer and Tiffin boy has been jailed for a year after he used his mother to sell stories to The Sun.

Thomas Ridgeway, 31, of Wallington, passed on two stories to the newspaper, including one about an actor's failed suicide attempt, and pocketed hundreds of pounds.

His mother, accounts manager Sandra Ridgeway, 55, of New Malden, was handed an 18-week suspended sentence for conspiring to commit misconduct in a public office.

Thomas Ridgeway was a keen rugby player who played for Old Tiffinians, and once took part in a personal fitness video for the International Rugby Board.

A former Tiffin acquaintance said: "It's a bit of a shock. I was in the year below Tom at Tiffin, but we were in the same form group in sixth form as I think he was repeating some subjects."

"I know he was very into his sport, in particular his rugby."

"It will be a big shock to a lot of people who were at school with him."

Sandra Ridgeway pleaded guilty on Monday to acting as a go-between and passing on gossip overheard by her son to the newspaper, and was ordered to pay £1,000 in costs by Judge Charles Wide QC at the Old Bailey.

She had kept half of the £1,600 The Sun paid for the actor's story in 2004, to settle a debt from her son.

The actor felt the publicity had affected his recovery.

Thomas Ridgeway, who had served in the Metropolitan Police as a PC from September 2002, was jailed in May after admitting two charges of misconduct in public office. The sentencing could not be reported at the time to avoid prejudicing his mother's case.

The other story the Ridgeways sold on, in July 2009, concerned allegations of sexual activity by off-duty Lambeth police officers at a pub in Kennington, which began as gossip around the police station.

Two stories appeared in The Sun and the Ridgeways were paid £1,000.

LIDL LESS NOISE: Neighbour's gripe with supermarket 'Noise causes my whole flat to shake'

REPORTER

JON SHARMAN

jon.sharman@london.newsquest.co.uk

A Chessington woman has lost patience with a supermarket taking three times as many daily deliveries as was promised when it was built.

Up to three lorries supply Lidl, in Leatherhead Road, every day, but the chain told councillors in 2008 there would be only one a day.

Katie Wright, 26, lives above the loading bay and said she would not have moved in two years ago had she known about it.

The mother-of-two said: "Sometimes, my whole flat shakes with the noise. I've been told to keep diaries. Nothing has been done."

"They offered me £100 in gift vouchers. I've probably spent more than that in phone calls on complaints."

Son Louie, six, and daughter Evie, seven months, are often woken from naps or kept awake by the lorries, but council officers said they could not help, Miss Wright claimed.

A 2008 Lidl plan said stores had "one dedicated delivery a day" to minimise disturbance.

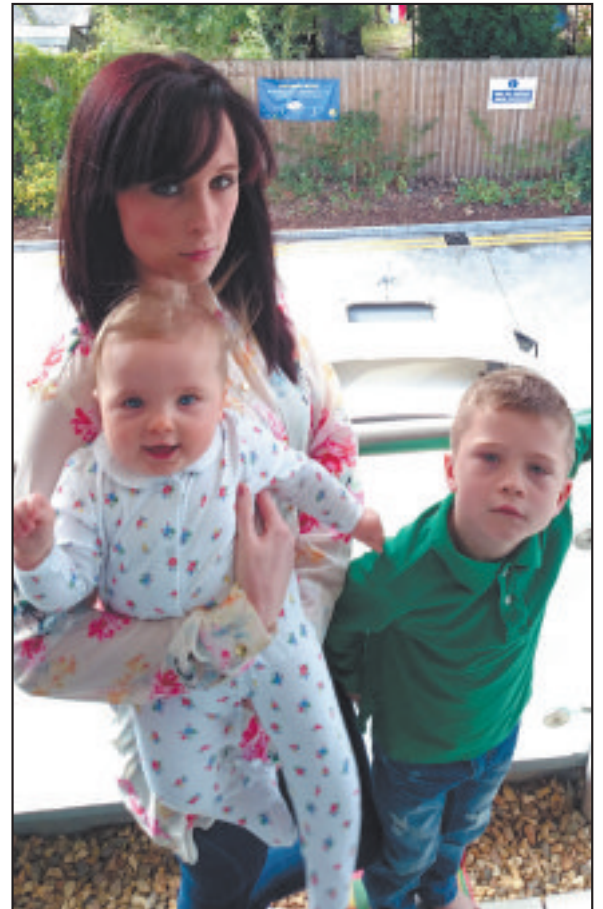

Noise consultants gave the development the thumbs-up after taking into account the "insignificant" single delivery.

Kingston and Surbiton MP Edward Davey said the situation was "intolerable".

He said: "This has dragged on for far too long. Lidl must act properly and urgently to address Katie's problems. If Lidl do not act, the council must enforce."

A Lidl spokeswoman said: "It has been essential to deliver more than once a day in order to ensure product availability. It is simply not possible to service this store with one delivery a day."

"Lidl is aware this conflicts with the information submitted

Angry: Katie Wright with Evie and Louie above the loading bay with its original application."

An application by Lidl to allow three deliveries a day, from Monday to Saturday, and two on Sundays, is being considered by Kingston Council officers.

A council spokesman said enforcement action can only take place after the application is decided.

Tudor rose to Channel swim challenge

The son of the owners of the Tudor Williams department store in New Malden has raised £16,000 for charity by swimming the Channel.

Tudor Morris, 22, took on the challenge for cancer charity Momentum after the charity supported him as a child.

He contracted leukaemia at the age of 13 and spent two years fighting the illness.

Mr Morris's mother died from cancer when he was just eight, further inspiring him toward his goal.

It took Mr Morris 15 hours and 53 minutes to complete the swim.

He spent months training for the challenge and said it required "more mental grit and determination than I have ever had to give in one day".

He said: "The last three hours were so hard."

"My lungs were on fire. I was wheezing, and I was cramping with every movement with the build-up of lactic acid in my muscles. I had to picture my mother swimming next to me and keeping me going – that was the only thing that got me through it."

In 2010, Mr Morris raised £11,000 after completing a 1,000-mile cycle.

The cost of fire strikes

London Assembly members have reacted to news last week that a man was trapped in his car for more than 90 minutes, when a replacement fire crew could not cut him free.

The crew was sent out to a crash in Chessington during strike action by firefighters in an ongoing row over pensions.

Ian Leahair, from the Fire Brigades Union, said the fire authority had "a duty" to make sure its replacement crews were up to the job.

He added: "Firefighters want to see an end to this dispute as much as the public does."

But Conservative Assembly member Tony Arbour said: "I don't think there needs to be a strike at all. That is the industrial relations of the 1980s."

"If I was the man in the car I would have thought 'Where

Crash: A man was trapped in this car as we reported last week, inset are these firemen?"

"To be told that they were on strike against the Government because of pensions would not make me very happy."

Liberal Democrat Assembly member Stephen Knight said:

"There is no doubt that the cost of the strike action to the fire authority is very considerable."

"It's very worrying to hear that the contingency crews weren't able to either operate the equipment or to get the person out."

"We desperately need the Government and the fire union to sit down around the table and end this dispute."

"Ultimately Londoners and the fire brigade are caught in the middle."

Over-inflated train fares on track again next year

JON SHARMAN

jon.sharman@
london.newsquest.co.uk

Train fares will rise ahead of inflation for yet another year, the Government has announced.

The 3.5 per cent rise – one per cent above RPI inflation – will come into force next January.

It will mean an extra £6.11 on a monthly season ticket from Surbiton, Kingston or Chessington South to London Waterloo.

But some companies could use a "flex" rule to raise prices by an extra 2 per cent.

Full details will not be announced until the end of this year.

Martin Abrams, of the Campaign for Better Transport, said: "The expense of taking the train to work has become a huge part of living costs."

"If the Government doesn't put an end to above-inflation fare increases quickly, ordinary commuters will be priced off the train."

Transport Secretary Patrick McLoughlin defended the rise.

He said: "We fully recognise there's more to do to bring down the cost of rail travel in Britain."

"But we need to do it responsibly and we can't spend money we don't have."

This year ministers capped fare rises to keep them level with inflation.

No such plan has yet been announced for the 2015 rise.

Michael Roberts, director general of the Rail Delivery Group, said: "Money from fares pays for more trains, better stations and faster services."

"Over the next five years, £38bn will be invested in improving the network."

"Our commitment is to enable future Government fares decisions which work best for passengers, by continuing to get more out of every pound we spend."

Running wild: The animal trots down the A3

Picture: Carrie Graham-Clarke

A runaway horse was reunited with its owner after taking a stroll down the A3 and Tolworth Broadway.

The black horse was reported to police at about 12.20pm on Sunday.

A Metropolitan Police spokesman said: "The horse had riding gear on, but no rider.

"It came off the A3 and subsequently went down the Broadway, where officers put in a rolling road-block to mitigate against any possible accidents."

"It stopped in the Broadway. We then obviously had to try and find the owner."

"We liaised with Surrey [Police] who tracked down the owner, who had come off the horse."

"She came to pick it up and it has now been taken away."

The rider appears not to have been injured when she came off the horse, the spokesman added.

ROBIN WILLIAMS: Fond memories of comic's secret gig at a Kingston comedy club

'A night nobody will ever forget'

REPORTER

JON SHARMAN

jon.sharman@london.newsquest.co.uk

A comedy night organiser has recalled the night Robin Williams performed in Kingston.

Williams was found dead at his home in California on Monday last week.

Maff Brown, from Outside the Box comedy, remembers the legendary actor and stand-up as "generous, grateful and giving".

Mr Williams played a single 15-minute gig at the Fighting Cocks in Old London Road in 2008, as a last-minute warm-up for his performance at Prince Charles' 60th birthday bash in Wimbledon.

Mr Brown said: "It was just one of those nights that nobody will ever forget. It was just amazing."

"He couldn't have been more generous, or grateful,

Fond memories: Maff Brown from Outside the Box; Robin Williams, right, performing at New Wimbledon Theatre in 2008 or giving. "Our VIP area was just a bit of cloth that we'd hung up on the ceiling. He just wanted to do comedy."

The 80-strong audience did not believe him when he announced Williams was coming on stage on that Monday night, he said.

But when the comedian stepped out, "the place went absolutely bonkers".

Mr Brown said: "He didn't say a word for 10 minutes – one bloke was actually just shouting "Jumanji" at him for about a minute."

"He did about 15 minutes of material. It was brilliantly funny, it was very well crafted."

When he received the call about Williams' surprise visit, Mr Brown was away in New York and initially reacted with disbelief.

He said: "I was so excited. I didn't even consider I could change my flights – I just bought two more."

SEX CHARGES: A 21-year-old man will appear in court charged with six sex offences allegedly committed in Kingston last Saturday. Sheldon George, of Scorton Avenue, Perivale, will appear at Wimbledon Magistrates' Court on Thursday, August 28. He faces three counts of sexual assault, one of attempted sexual assault, one of exposure, and one of public indecency.

PAVILION PLANS: Kingston Council is looking for tenants to renovate the pavilion at King George's recreation ground in Tolworth. It will consider proposals that allow current users of the building's kitchen and changing rooms, and has said the wider park will remain open to the public. The deadline for offers is Tuesday, September 30.

BIN FIRE: Surbiton firefighters were called to put out a fire in a bin on Sunday. A passerby spotted smoke coming from the bin, opposite Waitrose in Clarendon Road, at about 11pm. Firefighters from red watch said the fire was out within a few minutes.

MIDWIFE CYCLE: Three Kingston Hospital midwives will cycle from Buckingham Palace to Windsor Castle for a maternity charity. Claire Elsam, Aileen Morgan and Natalie Breslin hope to raise £1,000 for In Safe Hands by completing the 22-mile ride in October. To donate, visit justgiving.com/midwivesconquerthepalaces.

IN REALITY: Made in Chelsea stars Louise Thompson and Andy Jordan will visit a Surbiton bar to record a scene. Hotel Bosco, in St Mark's Hill, will host the not-quite-reality television characters on Saturday, September 6.

Burglars swipe £7k of jewellery

Two burglaries in New Malden netted more than £7,000-worth of jewellery in one day for intruders.

The first, in Coombe Bank at 9.45am on Saturday, July 19, saw £6,400-worth of goods stolen when two men broke into a house through a window.

During the second raid, in South Lane at 12.45pm, the men broke in through the back door and stole £400-worth of property.

Police said passersby saw the men driving away from the second burglary, along the A3 towards B&Q.

The men left their car just before 1pm and ran towards the Esso petrol station.

One was in his early 20s, slim, about 5ft 6in and was wearing baggy sports clothes. The other had a beard, and was wearing a light blue T-shirt, dark long-sleeved jacket and a black cap with white letters.

Detective Constable Iain Millar said: "In addition to people who recognise these men, we would ask anyone who saw them running away from the abandoned car to contact police."

The men are thought to be Spanish or Latin American, and to frequent Southwark, Peckham and Brixton.

One other man has been arrested.

Anyone with information should call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111 or Kingston police on 101.

Pub wants more punters on site

The owners of a Kingston pub have asked councillors to lift a restriction on the number of punters it can serve.

The Spring Grove, in Bloomfield Road, is allowed to have 230 people on the site at one time.

Young's has asked

Kingston Council to lift that condition, and also plans to beef up the pub's kitchen, extend the lounge area and totally refurbish the building.

In a submission to the council, a Young's statement said: "We have considered the impact of the proposed alterations and do not feel that there will be any increased risk."

But neighbours said too many extra drinkers would ruin the area.

Councillors were due to decide the application at a meeting on Tuesday at 10.30am.

A fresh stink over pigeon poop bridge

REPORTER

JON SHARMAN

jon.sharman@london.newsquest.co.uk

It cakes the road and falls on passing drivers – pigeon poo is on the agenda again.

The road under Worcester Park railway bridge is covered in the stuff, and the only way to get rid of it is for Kingston Council and Network Rail to join forces.

Fortunately for pedestrians, the pavements are clear thanks to netting on the bridge.

Council leader and Old Malden ward Councillor Kevin Davis said: "We did write to Network Rail about that bridge because we were concerned there was a lot of graffiti on it was well.

"I will write to them again. They had done the job properly at Surbiton – it kept away the birds.

"I suppose you could try shotguns."

A National Rail spokeswoman said: "Mesh netting is in place under sections of the bridge at Worcester Park.

"If the local authority believes that this provision needs to be extended over the highway, we are happy to discuss this with it."

The graffiti on the bridge was scrubbed away on Wednesday, she added.

Dropping zone: Pigeon poo covers the road under Worcester Park railway bridge. Inset: How we reported the problem 25 years ago

A quarter of a century ago, the avian defecation situation became so bad that court action loomed for British Rail.

The company had pledged more than a year earlier to clean up its act at Lower Ham Road and Richmond Road, but did nothing.

Eventually workers strung netting under the bridges.

In 2004 the Comet reported that, in New Malden, birds had become trapped in wire mesh protecting the bridge over Kingston Road – and their remains were falling on motorists and cyclists below.

One concerned mum said: "When my daughter cycled underneath the bridge two weeks ago, bits of pigeon were literally dropping down on top of her.

"It is quite a horrendous sight."

An RSPCA spokeswoman said: "We do have concerns about netting. If it's not properly maintained it can cause an awful lot of welfare issues.

"We get hundreds of calls a year concerning birds getting trapped. They starve to death."

Hard work pays off for A-level pupils

REPORTER

JON SHARMANjon.sharman@
london.newsquest.co.uk

Nervous students visited their schools and colleges for the last time to pick up their A-level results last week.

Amid claims exams are still getting harder, the national pass rate dipped for the first time in more than three decades.

Headteachers praised both students and staff for their efforts and thanked parents for their unwavering support.

Mark Wallace, acting head at Kingston Grammar School, said: "Maths and science have always been strong. History has come up very well this time around, and politics."

Coombe Sixth Form students increased their share of top A* and A grades from 19 to 23 per cent.

And at Tiffin Girls' School, no pupil scored lower than a C grade.

Jumping for joy: Isaac Jarratt Barnham, Michael Moore, Jack Bazalgette, Nicholas Wong and Ben Delchiappo, all 18, from Tiffin School; Steph Gunn and Grace Melville from Surbiton High School, below

A-level success stories this year included a 16-year-old who got an A* in maths, and a Surbiton school sending its first ever student to Cambridge.

Schools across the borough increased their share of the top A* and A grades, with significant increases at Chessington Community College, where 28 per cent of marks were an A – up from 7 per cent last year.

GCSE pupil Tristan Gregory, of Southborough High School, passed his maths exam two years early. He awaits his GCSE results next week.

Headteacher Niall Smith said: "I am delighted with these results, which are the richly deserved reward for our students' hard work."

"I would also like to thank staff and parents for their dedication and support."

Hollyfield School reached a landmark this year, sending its first student to Cambridge.

Alexa Belsham, 18, will spend a year in industry before beginning her degree.

She hopes to specialise in aeronautical engineering, having achieved two A* and two A grades in maths, further maths, physics and chemistry.

She said: "I'm relieved and excited. Maths has always been my favourite subject."

Hilda Clarke, headteacher at Tiffin School, said exams had become increasingly difficult.

She said: "I am delighted the very hard work of the students and staff came out in the evidence of the results."

Tiffin student Isaac Jarratt Barnham, 18, spent half a term out of school due to illness, but still managed to get into Cambridge to read philosophy.

He said: "I like arguing, and it is interesting to think about how people think."

Three-quarters of grades at Richard Challoner were a C or higher this year.

Head of school Ian O'Brien said the good results came "despite the changes forced on students mid-way through their course by a change of Government policy".

Kingston University said its clearing and confirmation helplines logged more than 4,800 calls before 11.30am last Thursday.

Six crimes in year leads to licence review for pub

REPORTER

NAZIA DEWJI

nazia.dewji@london.newsquest.co.uk

An arson attack and assault on a staff member have left a pub facing a licence review.

Kingston police have requested the licence of the Royal Oak, in Coombe Road, New Malden, be reviewed after six allegations of crime, also including burglary, between July 28, 2013, and July 12, 2014.

The pub, part of the Spirit Pub Company group, based in Staffordshire, does not have any CCTV cameras.

Former ward Councillor Lynne Finnerty said: "As a ward councillor up until May or as a regular at safer neighbourhood panel meetings, I was not aware of any of these incidents."

"I'm surprised that I would not be aware of any issues to do with the premises – especially with crimes of that nature."

A spokesman from Kingston police's licensing team said: "Following a number of incidents, including

No CCTV: The Royal Oak pub in Coombe Road

Deadline: KT86934

burglary, arson and assault, at the Royal Oak, between July 2013 and July 2014, we have requested that the management install CCTV on the premises to assist in the prevention of crime and disorder."

But a redacted licensing document on Kingston Council's website said that, although some security measures had been addressed, the pub would not consider adding cameras.

It said: "Police have been advised that CCTV will not be installed as it is the licence holder's senior management's view that its presence would not have prevented any of the incidents."

A spokesman for Spirit Pub Company said: "While we're disappointed that the Royal Oak licence is to be reviewed, we are confident that the security measures we have put in place over the past year are more than adequate."

A date has not yet been set for the hearing.

Doc to go on trial

A Kingston Hospital doctor will stand trial over the accident of Surrey Comet features editor June Sampson nearly a year after the incident.

Miss Sampson, 81, spent six months recovering at St George's Hospital after being struck by a car outside the hospital on November 26, last year.

She was left with serious injuries including several broken bones and a bleed on the brain.

Consultant obstetrician Andrew Breeze, 39, from Leeds, denies driving his Volkswagen Passat without due care and attention.

He will stand trial at Wimbledon Magistrates' Court on November 17.

The trial is expected to last two days.

It is alleged Mr Breeze, who studied medicine at Cambridge University, pulled out from Kingston Hospital's car park in Galsworthy Road before hitting Miss Sampson, who was crossing the road.

Miss Sampson, a grandmother and mother-of-two, became the first woman in Kingston in modern times to be awarded the honour of freedom of the borough in June.

She has worked for the Surrey Comet for 40 years.

Lidl triples its deliveries

How on earth did she think that any supermarket of that size would only need one lorry a day to replenish it. She chose to live above a supermarket loading bay. Why did she choose this location, or is this where the local authority placed her?

Tolworth online campaign

Why do folks go to Kingston? Easy. There's an extensive choice of stores; terrific selection of merchandise; and an appealing shopper experience. Tolworth needs to offer something unique, that can't be found in KOT – as opposed to what feels like a wasteland of fried chicken and pizza shops. And unless it does so, I'm inclined to feel that no amount of tweeting is going to reverse the continuing decline of the Broadway.

Rabbi speaks of anti-Israel sentiment following attack against synagogue

Free to air political beliefs but drop the anti-Semitism

Your paper reported some comments of mine (Hate notice pinned to synagogue, August 7) that require clarification as they were, I believe, taken out of context.

Following the anti-Semitic attack against my synagogue, it was reported that I was scared. I admit, this was my initial knee-jerk reaction, as the blood libels of old seemed to rear their ugly head once more.

But, the next day, I left home with my skullcap clearly visible, publicising my Jewishness to all.

I am proud to be a Jew. I am proud to be a Jew in Britain. No hate-filled message will ever take that away. As a community, we should not be fearful – England is a good place to be Jewish and we contribute much to society.

The expressions of support from numerous faith communities and individuals have been true testimony to our society's values.

Certainly, there are distinctions to be made between Israeli Government policy and British Jews. But, I wholly support the actions of the Israeli Government to protect its nation from the terror of indiscriminate rocket fire.

What is of particular concern is the cacophony of anti-Israel sentiment. I wonder, do those that shout so raucously against Israel similarly protest against the injustices in Syria or Sudan, to name but two? Or do their voices become more shrill and angry when it comes to Israel?

If that is the case, please do tar me with the brush of your anti-Semitism – you hate me too. If not, please protest your political beliefs without resorting to religious prejudice.

RABBI SAMUEL LANDAU
 Kingston, Surbiton & District Synagogue

Closed pubs could be used for homes

Empty pubs should be used for community housing and jobs.

The Worcester Park Tavern really must not be turned into an Islamic centre and must not be used for any religious purpose.

I have no problem with anyone having a religion, but the current problem in our communities is housing. Hello anyone out there who is listening.

Abandoned old pubs such as this can easily be used for housing projects such as the one I have in mind.

I would be able to save the local councils millions every year by putting my projects into action.

Not only could I house about 10 people in this property – people who might otherwise end up on the bed and breakfast scrap heap – but I can help those people develop some business opportunities within the building.

The first job obviously would be to bring the property back into use by making sure it is habitable once more.

This can easily be achieved by those who choose to live there, with some help from others in the community and from local businesses, and the backing of the council.

Anyone from any race, creed or religion would be welcome to help out or offer advice.

Let us stop allowing rich developers to knock down these interesting and useful old buildings only to replace them with hideous and overpriced blocks of flats.

After all, who ends up living in these new buildings?

From my experience, it is rarely if ever those in dire need of somewhere to live and a chance in life.

In fact, many are left empty for years and are simply built for foreign investors.

Let us invest in the people who need a hand getting their lives back on track and give them the opportunity to give something back to the community.

If the councils cannot see this simple solution, is anyone interested in sponsoring such a scheme or participating?

There are a number of these “abandoned” buildings in Surrey and the surrounding areas.

I see them as potential dwellings and business opportunities.

We can marry them up with people who need somewhere to live and a business opportunity.

Many of those on benefits actually do not want to sit around waiting for a council home and hand-outs.

This is just the media stereotyping people in order to boost viewing figures and sales.

Is anyone with me on this?

Please give me your backing or buildings like this will be knocked down and replaced with the ugliness of greed and excessive wealth rather than the sense of community.

Other options

I see, with some dismay, that Kingston Council has scrapped the 2014 Kingston Carnival, apparently due to safety concerns over the number of people expected to turn up.

Perhaps the organisers should have realised that Kingston is primarily a historic residential market town – it is not the Isle of Wight, nor do the residents want it to be.

But I am also sure that, under the previous Liberal Democrat administration, a way would have been found to come to a compromise.

However, it seems that the new Conservative council leader, Kevin Davis, is not prepared to consider that option.

It is good advice to be careful of what you wish for at the ballot box – you might just get it.

Kingston is now finding that out, to its detriment, and unless there are some byelections, they are now stuck with what they voted for until 2018.

If you are feeling lucky, a simple trip to Market Place, Kingston, this weekend could see you sunning yourself in Tobago in 2015.

Tobago tourism board is bringing the Caribbean to Kingston from 10am to 6pm on August 23, with a live steel band, giant hammock for the whole family and even a chance to play football with one of Tobago's top exports, footballer Dwight Yorke.

Free flights to the idyllic island will be announced by Radio Jackie on the hour, every hour, from noon to 5pm – giving you a chance at the holiday of a lifetime. They will also be giving away Kindles, signed mini-footballs, special holiday packages and money off a holiday.

And never one to miss out on a great giveaway, this newspaper has two flights of its own to give away (see above for details)

Imagine yourself flying into ANR Robinson International Airport and landing in Robinson Crusoe's paradise. Daniel Defoe chose the island to set his classic cast-away novel after seeing its natural beauty and hidden charms.

Discovered by Christopher Columbus in 1498, Tobago retains its simple and rustic nature, with its capital Scarborough home to about 17,000 people.

The island itself is 26 miles long and seven miles wide, with year-round temperatures blissfully between 23C and 32C.

A spokesman for the Tobago tourism board said: "Considered by many as the true Caribbean, Tobago offers its guests a unique travel experience."

"Come and explore our island's rich history, culture, and biodiversity. Find the perfect accommodation for your stay, from luxurious villas, to quaint bed and breakfast establishments, to guesthouses and full-service hotels, many of them with views to die for.

"Learn about the many festivals, as well as cultural and sporting events that take place throughout the year.

"Let us help you find that perfect restaurant, idyllic beach or historical attraction. See why dive enthusiasts, romantics, adventure seekers, bird-watchers and beach lovers all have Tobago on their to-do lists.

"Experience all that you have dreamed the unspoilt Caribbean to be.

"What is most intriguing about Tobago that she remains ostentatious in what she offers – a truly authentic experience from the interaction with locals to the activities and accommodation."

'FOOT SOLUTIONS GOT ME BACK ON MY FEET'

Although officially retired as a Consultant Maxillofacial Prosthetist, Colin Haylock MBE still travels the world using his specialist life-changing skills to help rebuild people's faces.

However, following a motorcycle accident which left his left foot badly deformed, Colin's mobility was significantly restricted.

"I was really struggling," explains Colin, currently an honorary tutor at Guys Medical School. "Following the accident, my movement became painful and awkward and I had to drag my left foot sideways. The problem was accentuated during my travels when I was on my feet a lot of the time."

At first, Colin sought help from the usual channels, visiting casualty, a physiotherapist and even an orthoptist who prescribed rigid (and uncomfortable) half-sole inserts.

Unfortunately, nothing worked. Then Colin decided to visit Foot Solutions in Richmond.

"I'd been aware of the Foot Solutions free foot assessment offer for some time," adds Colin "then one Sunday morning I called in to the store. I'm so glad I did because that visit changed my life for the better."

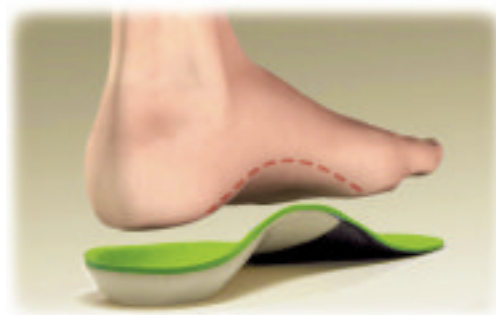

Colin was seen by Foot Solutions consultant Asif, who after taking a full case history, performed a series of tests and scans which identified in addition to the injury, a fallen arch which was exacerbating the problem.

"Asif was extremely patient and thorough," continues Colin, "he recommended custom-made arch supports and advised on suitable footwear, but applied no sales pressure."

Colin accepted Asif's recommendations and followed his detailed instructions on how to use the arch supports.

"I can now walk normally with virtually no discomfort," says a delighted Colin, "Foot Solutions is a very good product and I am happy to endorse it."

Results leave students jumping for joy

Deborah Walls

Jubilant and triumph filled the corridors of Coombe Sixth Form as students celebrated another record breaking year after receiving their A-level results last Thursday.

Remarkable results were achieved by top performing students, led by Coombe Sixth Form head boy and Coombe Boys' School graduate Alex Mackie who achieved an impressive 3 A* and one A grade securing his place to read law at Pembroke College, Cambridge University.

Georgina Barrett and Jules Bayer-Crier were among a significant number of students who obtained A* and A grades securing their places at top universities.

Headteacher, Deborah Walls, said: "I'm absolutely thrilled with the results which show a substantial increase in the number of A/A* grades as well as A*-C and are testament to the students' very hard work, dedication and aspiration."

In addition to bucking the national trend, Coombe Sixth Form reports a substantial 31 per cent increase in students who achieved straight A* and A grades.

High achieving students including Saira Dean and Hana Jeetun will continue their studies at the renowned St George's Medical School achieving six A grades between them.

With one A* and two A grades, Abigail Turner will be heading to Nottingham University where she will study veterinary medicine.

Moreover, Coombe's first cohort of Extended Project Qualification (EPQ) candidates achieved 100 per cent A* to A.

The sixth form plans to develop this pathway which enables students to extend their abilities beyond A-level and prepare for university.

Helping students achieve their best

Ewell Castle is a small Independent day school which was built as a castellated mansion in 1814.

Set in beautiful grounds in the heart of picturesque Ewell Village, its gardens and playing fields cover some 15 acres and were once part of Nonsuch Park.

A spokesman for the school said: "Our mission is to ensure that each and every student reaches their full potential; an ambition that is realised through small class sizes, excellent facilities and a close working relationship between highly qualified staff, parents and students."

From September 2015, Ewell Castle will become fully co-educational for ages three to 18.

In addition to joining in the nursery, junior school and sixth form, girls will be able to join in years 7 and 9.

The school's family-friendly environment, together with its ethos and values, foster personal development and help to produce confident well-rounded young people prepared for the challenges of the 21st century.

Titania and Oberon: Janie Dee and Aden Gillett in rehearsals

Step into the dreamlike world of Theseus, Hyppolyta and Puck as Shakespeare's Globe Theatre brings A Midsummer Night's Dream to Kingston, writes Lucy Ford.

The Bard's dazzling fantasy comedy comes to the Rose Theatre for three days next month, before embarking on an international tour.

The Globe has just announced double Olivier Award-winner Janie Dee will be starring as Queen of the Fairies Titania, alongside Aden Gillett as Oberon.

The production, employing Renaissance costumes and staging, will be directed by Dominic Dromgoole, who will be collaborating with designer Jonathan Fensom and composer Claire van Kampen for the 10th time.

Rose executive producer Jerry Gunn says: "The Rose has a classical Shakespearean stage, as has the Globe, and because of this the two spaces share some physical similarities, so it makes sense to try to show their great work to a Kingston audience."

"We're always keen to bring high-quality Shakespearian productions to the Rose that will resonate with our audience and Shakespeare's Globe's is wonderful, fun and a very accessible company.

"A Midsummer Night's Dream is a title that continues to be popular at Kingston and, when we heard the Globe were planning an international tour, we were very keen to have it in our programme before it left our shores."

"We are delighted that both Janie Dee and Aden Gillett are bringing this very popular and successful title to the Rose."

Dee last appeared on the Globe stage in 2011 as the Countess of Roussillon in John Dove's production of All's Well that Ends Well.

Meanwhile Gillett, best known for his long-running role as Jack Maddox in the BBC TV series The House of Elliott, recently starred as Sir Colenso Ridgemoor in George Bernard Shaw's The Doctor's Dilemma, and won best actor at the 2012 Off West End Stage Awards for his performance in Accolade.

Festival for enjoying later life

Support groups and services for older people will be put front and centre, with workshops and a Guildhall showcase.

The Enjoying Later Life festival will promote services provided by Kingston Council and others to make sure residents are aware of information and opportunities open to them.

Conservative lead member for social care Councillor Julie Pickering said: "It's just sowing the seed to our elderly population of planning their future."

"It's about leisure, shopping, housing, health and social care. It's an opportunity for us to engage with them and understand what they want, what they think is missing."

A showcase event will be held in Guildhall on Monday, October 6, from 10am-4pm. Providers will set up stalls the council hopes will

"signpost" their services and information.

Guided tours of the mayor's parlour will also be on offer between 10am and 3pm on October 6.

Organisations hoping to take part can contact adrienne.byrne@kingston.gov.uk.

ENJOY THE RIDE

HEART of retro

For those of us who can't afford the luxury of visiting Disney-world Florida or trying out the latest, death-defying rollercoaster to hit Japan, UK theme parks are this summer, make sure you check out the latest addition to the park, the Scorpion Express, which opened this year.

Described as being suitable for all the family, this ride gives children the chance to experience their first rollercoaster. At Thorpe Park, there is a greater variety of stomach-churning rides. The highlight for me when I visited was Stealth, one of Europe's fastest rollercoasters that goes from 0-80mph and 205 feet in under two seconds.

Horror movie fans may also enjoy Saw – The Ride. Based on the movie franchise, the ride has a "beyond vertical" drop of one hundred degrees from a height of 100 feet.

As if this wasn't enough, there is the 10-loop Colossus, the 100-foot drop tower, Detonator, and the super-soaking water ride, Tidal Wave. A large part of the day can involve queuing for the rides and summer is peak season for theme parks. But in my experience you just have to plan ahead. I headed to the popular rides first and as early as possible and then later at the end of the day before the park was due to close. That way, you do not waste precious rollercoaster time standing around.

For the full experience, I would recommend taking advantage of the hotel complexes that Chessington and Thorpe Park have to offer, as it gives you more than a day to explore what the parks have to offer.

It is a big day out, particularly for those with young children, but it is sure to be worth it for the thrills and all-round family fun.

An art, crafts and vintage fair will take place in Walton, with stalls filled with homeware, children's clothes, dresses, crafts and fine food, writes Ellie Cambridge.

Held at the Heart shopping centre on Sunday, September 14, visitors can pick up a variety of unique items such as hand-stitched bunting and cushions by Cottonmills Design, or a personalised aromatherapy candle by Willow Candles.

Mark Middleton, general manager of the Heart, says: "We hope every member of the family will enjoy a little vintage at our fair."

"There will be plenty of stalls offering stunning handmade items. A fun day out for all the family."

● Arts, crafts and vintage fair; Heart shopping centre, New Zealand Avenue, Walton; Sunday, September 14, 10am to 5pm; for information call Eirinn Fuller on 01707 275050.

a great alternative, writes Ella Griffiths.

Chessington World of Adventures and Thorpe Park are the nearest for us Londoners and both are great family outings. Chessington is better suited to younger visitors, while Thorpe Park is guaranteed to impress teenagers and adults.

Chessington boasts Vampire and Dragon's Fury for fearless visitors. But the majority of the other rides are suited to satisfy mild thrill-seekers only. There is also a zoo and SeaLife centre for those who are less keen on the rides themselves.

Don't rush into buying a home Offers made just 30 minutes after viewing

People looking to buy a house in a highly competitive market are spending less time on property viewings and potentially missing out on signs of maintenance issues that could cause them financial pain down the line, according to new research from Aviva.

The research suggests that the fierce property market is forcing buyers to make snap decisions with one in four making just one visit to a property before deciding to purchase it. And every year, as many as 40,000 people buy properties without viewing them at all.

According to the savings and insurance company, home buyers in the past year spent on average just over half an hour looking round a property before making what is likely to be the biggest purchase decision of their lives.

Not devoting enough time to inspecting a property can have an impact further down the line. Unnoticed maintenance and structural issues can result in high repair costs or even scupper a house purchase altogether.

The survey of 4,000 homeowners showed that buyers are forced to spend £1,094 more than they had expected on essential repairs once they move in to their property, with the average total bill coming in at £3,490.

Among the most common unanticipated problems found by buyers are:

- Plumbing issues including drain blockages (12 per cent of homeowners)
- Damp (12 per cent)
- Cracks in the walls or ceilings (11 per cent)

"Renewed competition and rising prices have combined to make many buyers more pressurised to snap up a property quickly," said Heather Smith, marketing director at Aviva. "Our research showed that buyers in the past year devoted under 10 seconds to looking round a

Japanese knotweed can cost thousands to remove property for every £1,000 they spent purchasing it."

Aviva's research showed that nearly one in three home buyers did not make any specific checks for issues or problems when viewing their future home.

Heather Smith continued:

"Defective chimneys and Japanese knotweed in particular can be really nasty, with costs to fix running into four or even five figures."

Win a month's free rent

Your Move, has launched a competition which will see one lucky tenant from this region win a month's rent up to the value of £1,000.*

The competition is open to all tenants who begin renting a property through Your Move branches across south east London and Kent from now until September 30, 2014.

Joe Mullan, area lettings director for Your Move said: "We have supported many local landlords in letting their properties and simply decided that we'd like to extend this support to our new tenants too – many of whom may appreciate having some extra cash in their pockets, or who may be saving for a deposit to buy a property for themselves.

"The competition should also provide an incentive for tenants to seek our help and, we hope, bring an appreciation of the great range of lettings services we have on offer."

For more details, call in at your local Your Move branch or visit www.your-move.co.uk.

ARLA
Association of Residential Letting Agents

Why students can make the best tenants

As a landlord or letting agent, there are many factors to consider when renting a property, including finding your ideal tenants. On first glance students may not be your first choice, but new findings by utilities and service provider for students, Glide, and Accommodation for Students, found that students are in fact the most desirable tenants.

The annual report reveals that 69 per cent of landlords and letting agents feel it is better to let to students than non-students. This was consistent across all regions in the UK with the exception of London, where just 43 per cent preferred student tenants.

Eighty four per cent of all respondents also agreed that students make good tenants. This was put down to their associated benefits: better rental yields (76.5 per cent), annual market for new students (53.7 per cent), rent is guaranteed by a parent/guardian (45.6 per cent) and rent is paid promptly (25 per cent). Only 3.7 per cent of those surveyed reported experiencing no benefit associated with letting to students.

Despite these benefits, some challenges were also highlighted when letting to students. These included; the cost of maintaining a HMO licence (57.4 per cent); the fact students are more time consuming than letting to non-students (50.7 per cent); the turnover of tenancies (46.3 per cent); and damage caused to the property (41.2 per cent). One in 10 reported experiencing no issues associated with letting to student tenants.

Those with smaller portfolios more commonly reported issues relating to costs, such as the cost of maintaining a HMO. Those who manage larger portfolios were more likely to report issues relating to property damage and students being more time consuming as tenants than non-students.

Richard Price head of business development for Glide offers guidance for landlords and letting agents who are thinking of letting their property to students for the first time: "There is a lot of confidence in the student rental market. Gone are the days where student digs equals sub standard. The truth is, students make great tenants - they're in constant supply and have guaranteed means to pay the rent. With annual turnovers and a desire to rent to this market, landlords and letting agents should make their properties as attractive and visible to students during the clearing period. Here are a few tips to keep things simple and attract the right tenants this summer."

Time to check your tyres

More than 10 million tyres on UK roads could be dangerous, not because of poor tread, but because of their age, according to research from tyre retailer Kwik Fit.

It found only 17 per cent of drivers know how to identify when their car's tyres were manufactured, and thus how old they are.

With many motorists cutting down the number of miles they drive each year (vehicle traffic was lower in the first quarter of 2013 than at any time since 20012) drivers may find their tyres reach the end of their life, well before the tread nears the legal limit of 1.6mm.

Although they may not know how to tell the exact age of their tyres, more than six million drivers thought their car had a tyre which was over five years old.

Combined with those who don't know the age of their tyres, it could mean more than 11 million tyres could be out of date.

THIS WEEK'S MODEL

Ford's first ever electric car

Ford has finally joined the electric car party with its Focus Electric, which is now on sale in the UK, writes Philip Shoulder.

With the exception of a new grille, front-wing charging point and subtle badging, the Focus Electric shares the looks of Ford's familiar five-door hatchback, yet under-the-skin uses a lithium-ion battery pack and AC electric motor, which is good for an 85mph top speed and a surprisingly sprightly 11 second sprint to 62 mph.

The biggest limitation currently associated with electric vehicles (EVs) concerns a lack of useable range, but the Focus offers a claimed mileage of up to 100 miles on a full charge (depending on driving style and choice of route) aided by the powertrain's use of regenerative braking to capture up to 95 per cent of kinetic energy normally lost during the braking process.

Charging takes 10-11 hours from a standard three-pin 240 volt/10 amp UK domestic socket, while a fast charger operating at 32 amps can achieve a full top-up in three to four hours.

Due to the electric motor delivering its 250Nm of torque instantly the Focus Electric feels very strong off the mark and at lower speeds, but once over 60 mph the rate of speed increase slows considerably, as the car gradually builds up to its restricted 85 mph top speed.

Despite a significantly heavier kerb weight of 1700kg, this Focus retains the dynamic appeal of conventionally powered versions, save for a touch less body control around corners.

In-car refinement however, is a marked improvement over a combustion powered Focus. Like its EV rivals, the Focus Electric's motor is smooth and refined and once underway, all that disturbs the serenity is a whisper of wind noise and a modicum of road rumble.

Although cabin space is unaffected by the electric conversion, the battery occupies a significant chunk of the luggage area, which reduces everyday carrying capacity from 316 litres, down to 237 litres. At least Ford has made an effort to retain practicality by installing a two-tier load floor, incorporating a hidden storage compartment.

Don't break down abroad

Previous AA research shows that approximately 3.6million drivers plan to take a foreign holiday this year and drive there from the UK while 17 per cent will hire a car at their destination. Rosie Sanderson, head of AA International Motoring said: "The risk of breaking down in Europe is every bit as real as it is in the UK, especially if the vehicle is only used as a run-around for short journeys at home."

Last year the AA rescued over 5,500 members in Europe saving them over £3million. The average cost of a breakdown in France is around £650, and over £1,000 for those venturing further east to countries such as Romania and Ukraine.

Ms Sanderson advises motorists plan their trip carefully and don't leave their preparations until the last-minute: "It is a good idea to check your insurance before you go because some car insurers may not offer the same level of cover overseas that you currently get in the UK, while others might need you to inform them that you're taking your car away. Of course, make sure your EHC is up to date, as well as organising travel insurance as early as you can."

"Driving abroad is going to be very different to that in UK and it is definitely a good idea to check on what to expect in advance. In France, for example, you're required to carry a breathalyser and a high visibility jacket."

Conditions of acceptance of advertisements

General

- The following conditions apply to the placing of an order for insertion of advertisements in Newsquest Media Group ("Newsquest") printed or electronic publications. Each order will form a separate agreement and English law will apply. Any change to these conditions must be agreed by us in writing (which means by exchange of letter, fax or email). An "advertiser" means any person or organisation placing an advertisement on their own account or on behalf of another.

Contents

- The advertiser confirms that the advertisement complies with all applicable legislation, regulations and codes of practice, including the codes supervised by the Advertising Standards Authority. We may reject or require changes to any advertisement so as to comply with legal or moral obligations placed on us or the advertiser; to avoid infringing the rights of a third party or any relevant code of practice; or to meet our published production and quality specifications.
- The advertiser further confirms that:
 - the publication of the advertisement will not breach any contract, infringe the copyright, trademark or other right of any third party and is not libelous of any person;
 - all licences and consents from third parties necessary for the publication of the advertisement have been obtained and paid for, including consent from living persons identified in copy or pictures (photographic or otherwise);
 - in respect of an investment advertisement, the contents have been approved by, or the advertiser is, and authorised person within the meaning of the Financial Services Act 1986 as amended or the advertisement is otherwise permitted under that Act.

Payment

- All advertisements must be paid for in full at the time of booking unless credit has been agreed. The price shall be the amount fixed by our published rate card on the date of acceptance of the order plus VAT where applicable. For non-credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of an advertisement that has not been paid for on time. For credit advertisers, we will cancel publication of any future advertisements if payment is not made in accordance with our payment terms. For credit advertisers, interest will be charged on late payments at the rate of 3% above the Bank of England's base lending rate from the date payment is due together with the administration costs of collecting an overdue debt.
- By placing an order with us, an advertising agency confirms that it contracts as principal with full authority from its client in all matters connected with the order and is responsible for all payments due. We will only accept advertisements from advertising agencies if they are recognised by us.
- We will try to give notice of increases, but we reserve the right to change our advertising rates at any time. This will not affect contracts, including any fixed term agreement for a series of advertisements.

Box numbers

- We will use reasonable efforts to forward replies to box numbers within a reasonable time, but we are not responsible for any failure or delay caused by circumstances beyond our reasonable control, or for any losses relating to an advertiser's business or any loss that is not reasonably foreseeable by both parties.

Method of payment

We will be pleased to accept your payment by any of the following methods:

- CHEQUE - Made payable to NEWSQUEST (LONDON) LTD.
- BACS - Electronic Bank Transfer • CASH - Paid to one of our Branch Offices.
- CREDIT/DEBIT CARD - Please phone to pay by Visa/Mastercard/Switch/Delta

Cancellation

- We will notify the advertiser of the latest time that orders can be cancelled (the "booking" deadline) and the latest time that advertising copy can be received by us ("the copy deadline"). An advertiser may cancel up until copy deadline and we will make reasonable efforts to re-sell the space, but the advertiser will be liable for the full price if the space is not sold and we will reclaim any unearned volume-based discount. Private advertisers booking by telephone or online may cancel in accordance with relevant law, but no refund shall be available after the copy deadline unless cancellation is due to our negligence. If the copy is not received by the copy deadline, we will not be liable if the advertisement does not appear, but the advertiser will remain liable to make full payment for the price of the advertisement.
- We will try to satisfy an advertiser's request regarding the positioning of an advertisement, but no guarantee of position can be given unless agreed by us and paid for at the rate then current.

Errors

- We are not liable for any error, misprint or non-appearance of an advertisement unless caused by our negligence, in which case the advertiser will be entitled to a re-insertion or proportionate refund. The advertiser is solely responsible for checking the advertisement on each insertion and ordering correction where necessary. Except where we have been negligent, we shall not be liable for an error or misprint that, in our reasonable opinion, does not materially detract from the advertisement. We shall not be liable in any case for losses relating to any business or public fund-raising for the advertiser, such as lost customers, revenue or profit.

Copyright

- Advertisements are accepted on condition that we have the right to publish them online as well as in any booked titles. The copyright in work or material we contribute to or re-work for an advertisement belongs to us. We will dispose of advertiser's copy, artwork, photographs or other materials after six months unless collected.

General

- We shall not be liable if our publishing activities are restricted or prevented by any law, act or event beyond our reasonable control (including, for example, industrial dispute). In such case, the advertiser shall accept publication when available or otherwise may cancel the order by written notice and pay only for work done and materials used.
- We will use the advertiser's details for internal administration. Unless the advertiser tells us not to in writing at any time, we may also share details with other Newsquest companies or with carefully selected third parties, who may send information about goods and services.
- The advertiser will be liable to pay us for all costs, losses, expenses and damages of any kind suffered or incurred by us as a result of legal claims or actions, actual or threatened, arising from the advertiser's breach of these conditions or the publications of the advertisement, unless caused by our own negligent act or failure.
- We may cancel the order at any time if the advertiser breaches these conditions and the breach is not capable of remedy or it continues for seven days after we have given written notice of it, or if we reasonably believe the advertiser is unable to pay debts or the advertiser goes or threatens to go out of business.

Raza rumbles woeful Wanderers

Old Whitgiftians all rounder Mo Raza proved Malden Wanderers' tormentor in chief in Surrey Championship Division One on Saturday.

Raza, right, hit a brisk 25 as the visitors posted 218-8 at Cambridge Avenue thanks largely to Joe Murtagh's patient half century (50).

The Whitgift man then claimed 5-20 off his 10 overs to dismiss the hosts for 112, with Pete Young top scoring with just 17.

Wanderers make the short trip to Beddington this week.

Back in the ring: Kingston boxer Anthony Ayinde, right, in action during his last fight

Ayinde no sinner for title test

Rising boxing star Anthony Ayinde says he is leading the perfect lifestyle to ensure he fulfils his title ambitions next month, writes Stuart Amos.

The 22-year-old Kingston fighter will meet long-term rival Ashley Dansie for the vacant Queensbury Boxing League's Novice Welterweight title at the Epsom Downs Racecourse after their original showdown was postponed due to Ayinde suffering a broken rib in training.

Ayinde has strung together an impressive run of victories in the competition since his first and only loss against Dansie on his Queensbury debut back in September of 2013.

And he is confident of crushing Dansie this time around.

"After seeing Ashley in action in his last fight there was nothing to worry me at all," he said.

"When I met Dansie on my debut I had taken the fight at only 10 days notice and you could see from my performance as the rounds progressed I just wasn't fit enough.

"But this time I'm leading the perfect lifestyle and have a great team behind me so I'll be more than ready.

"We've both come a long way since that first fight and are both more experienced in the league, but I really believe I've come on far more than Ashley has, and I'll be surprised if he lasts the full fight when we meet again.

"I'm 100 per cent confident that I've got the power to stop him this time around, and I know it will be my hand raised with the belt around my waist on September 27."

For tickets to see Ayinde's big fight visit queensbury boxing.co.uk.

UNBEATEN: Clinical Kavanagh maintains Kingstonian's fast start

Battle hard Ks win out

SPORTS REPORTER

TAIMOUR LAY

sports@london.newsquest.co.uk

Tommy Kavanagh's second goal in a week was enough to secure the tightest of 1-0 wins for Kingstonian over Hornchurch on Saturday.

But if getting revenge for last season's play-off loss to the same team was sweet, there was a sour taste to proceedings too in a game marred by seven Hornchurch bookings and no shortage of flying challenges from the Essex side.

Daniel Sweeney, injured by a two-footed challenge in April against the same opponents, was once again whacked on the ankle and had to withdraw before the interval.

But assistant boss Mark Harper was more than pleased to see his side do things the hard way.

"It was a frustrating afternoon because that's what Hornchurch do," he said.

"They try to get in and around you and upset you with tackles and whatnot.

"Sometimes you get involved in games like that where it's not how you yourselves want to play or your ethic, but it's pleasing that we've dug in and come out on top against a side like that because we know we can mix it.

"You know it's going to be tough and physical."

The match looked like it was heading for a nil-nil when substitute Nathaniel Pinney, who found space intelligently after his introduction, received the ball on the edge of the area.

The ball bobbed off to Kavanagh who struck first time across keeper Sam Mott, deflecting and hitting both posts before going in.

But Hornchurch had their chances, particularly former Ryman Golden Boot winner Martin Tuohy, who was twice denied by off-the-line clearances from Matt Drage and Alan Inns.

Junior Luke also missed a sitter, skying the ball so high it went over the old Kingston Road End.

Ks were third in the table ahead of yesterday's derby at Leatherhead and Saturday's trip to Bognor Regis Town.

New club aims high

A New Malden football club has set its sights on competing in the FA Cup, despite only coming into existence this season.

Acts 29 FC, which takes its name from the Bible and has been established to engage with the Korean community in Kingston, play their first home game in the Surrey Intermediate League later this month.

And Surrey FA football development officer Jon Burr reckons it is the tip of the iceberg in terms of what the club hopes to achieve.

"This is a very special event for the Korean community and the area as a whole," he said.

"It's fantastic to see football being used as a social tool and they already have ambitions to play in the FA Cup."

Acts 29 FC's Philip Sung added: "There are an estimated 20,000-30,000 Koreans in the Surrey and London area and we want to unite the community with love and give hope and happiness to the Korean people."

Ambition is raised

Corinthian Casuals boss Matt Howard has noticed a welcome change in attitude in his squad this term, writes Stuart Amos.

The King George's Field outfit, who slipped to a 2-1 defeat at play-off contenders Burgess Hill Town on Saturday, pulled off the great escape to avoid Ryman Division One South relegation last term.

But Howard reckons his men expect better of themselves this time around.

"The lads in the changing room are really upset and that's good because when I first came to the club, it was a case of 'Oh, we lost again, it doesn't really matter'," he said at the weekend.

"Burgess Hill finished sixth last year and this season, they'll be there or thereabouts again.

"So for us to lose 2-1 and our boys have the hump about it, that's a good sign.

"Going forward, I've set the lads a personal target and they know what's expected from them and what we'd like to achieve.

"We're still on course for what we're hoping for."

Steady hand helps Patel at work and play

Cobham Commonwealth shooting champion Parag Patel says his ability as a surgeon – including work at Kingston Hospital – is what makes him a cut above the rest, writes Jack Miller.

The 38-year-old brought his tally of Commonwealth medals up to six (three gold) with victory in Glasgow in the full-bore Queen's Prize pairs alongside David Luckman, and third place in the individual event.

Winners: David Luckman and Parag Patel

Patel works at Kingston and St George's hospitals as a consultant ear, nose and throat surgeon, and firmly believes his skills as a doctor enhance his rifle shooting.

"Being a surgeon and doing the kind of surgery I do, I think there are a number of transferable skills," he said.

"For both, you have to have a level of concentration and dexterity, hand-eye coordination, and also a steady hand.

"All of those apply to shooting just as much as they do in the operating room."

He added: "I really enjoy the work I do, which makes me grateful I can compete in the sport as an amateur.

"I'll stop and focus my attention on my work and my family now, and then target the world team and individual championships next year.

"If it was an Olympic event my career would probably be shooting, so in a way I'm pleased it's not. I've achieved everything I can in the sport and medalled in every event."

ROAD TO WEMBLEY: Chessington & Hook United striker Dan McLaughlin struck the only goal as the Combined Counties League Division One new boys beat Worthing United 1-0 in the FA Cup extra preliminary round on Saturday. United, relegated from the Premier Division in May, travel to Deal Town or Phoenix Sports in the preliminary round on August 30.

DEBUT DELIGHT: New signing Rupert Shipperley marked his Surbiton Hockey Club debut with a brace in Saturday's 3-2 pre-season friendly triumph over MHL Premier Division rivals Wimbledon at Sugden Road. Surbiton host Bromley & Beckenham this weekend.

TITLE BLOW: Kingstonian dealt a blow to Old Emanuel's Surrey Championship Division Four title hopes with victory on Saturday. Ks dismissed their hosts for 104 before easing to victory for the loss of just four wickets. Ks host Cobham Avonians this weekend.
